Welcome

Whether children dream of being a professional footballer or simply want to have fun with their friends, taking the right approach to the game when children are young sets the stage for a lifetime of enjoyment.

At Soccerscool we provide the opportunity for young players to play the game at a recreational or competitive level, with the aim of encouraging lifelong participation.

For players who join Soccerscool, many of whom are being introduced to the game for the first time, the goal of our approach is simple:

'There is only one ball, learn to keep it!'

Our Approach

Soccerscool's distinctive Play-Practice coaching method effectively involves children of all levels and abilities.

We pride ourselves on the level of fun, participation, skill and knowledge that children gain from attending our training sessions.

How We Work

Children are placed into training groups appropriate to their needs to ensure maximum participation and enjoyment. Children will progress when they can demonstrate a consistent level of ability relating to aspects of the programme.

Programme of Study

Staying with the Ball – Individual Work.

Children learn through playing a variety of fun games the ability to keep possession of the ball and exploit space.

Staying with the Ball – Team Work.

Children learn through playing in a variety of Game-Related Practices how to keep possession of the ball as part of a team – developing their knowledge of how to attack and defend.

Red Class is not an activity children can drop in and out of. It is a programme of study that requires regular attendance to advance.

Ethos

To create a fun, professional environment that stimulates and challenges young players to maximize their potential as footballers.

Provide children with an experience that teaches them valuable life skills associated with playing a team sport.

Educate children in the virtues of taking responsibility on and off the field of play.

Raise standards at the grassroots level in relation to the coaching of children's football.

Soccerscool sessions are designed to harness the fun, freedom and creativity of street football, improving each player's individual technical ability and confidence on the ball while developing team play.
